Extraordinary losses resulting from the massive flooding in Thailand

We hereby inform you of the financial consequences for the first nine months of the year ending March 31, 2012, resulting from the floods that struck Thailand in October of 2011.

1. Overview of damage

During the flooding in Thailand, water penetrated some buildings and facilities belonging to our subsidiaries, causing temporary suspension of operations. We have calculated the total “loss by disaster” owing to damage to fixed assets, loss of inventory, and fixed costs due to suspension of operations at 10,003 million JPY.

2. Outlook

At the production locations that underwent damage, operations recommenced partially in November 2011, and with some areas of production shifted to substitute locations, operations were back up to full capacity at all ROHM Group locations by January 2012.

From the fourth quarter of FY2012 onward, there is expected to be a depreciation burden accompanying the replacement of damaged fixed assets, and on the other hand income from insurance payments. At present the exact amount cannot be predicted. For this reason, the business results forecast of November 9, 2011 will continue to serve as the earnings forecast for the entire period.
